

Council Defends Tax As Economical Way City Has No Choice But To Go Ahead With Sewage Plant

Despite protests raised over Salem's new sewer rental ordinance, and despite the current talk of petitions and referendums, city council's sewage committee members and other municipal officials are unanimous in their defense of the recently-enacted measure.

Councilmen passed the controversial legislation March 3 after warding off a barrage of questions and protests hurled at them by approximately 50 visitors at the meeting.

The lawmakers and other city officials blame the opposition to the ordinance on a variety of factors, among which are:

1—A growing resentment among Salem people against the levying of any more taxes, no matter for what purpose.

2—The rates themselves (65 per cent of the water rates) which many people consider excessive.

3—The fact that this is an election year—a condition which may elicit some criticism for purely political reasons only.

4—The East Cold Run Reservoir publicity, which still looms sharp in the memory of local residents.

CONCERNING THE aversion among taxpayers against any additional levies, municipal heads say that this is an instance wherein neither the residents nor the officials have any choice.

The preemptory demand by the State that Salem make adequate and proper disposal of its sewage leaves the city no alternative, they say. Salem must expand its facilities in adherence to the state's demands or face a fine which may amount to $500 per day, they declare.

That such a fine could become a distinct reality is not disputed for a moment by city leaders. Since the passage of anti-pollution laws and the creation of the State Water Pollution Control Board, numerous cities in Ohio have been ordered to amend their sewage systems to conform with new state regulations, and are complying with the directives.

It is inconceivable, city leaders point out, that the state would allow Salem leniency thereby setting a precedent for other cities.

ANOTHER motivating factor is the recent petition submitted by the County Health Department to Common Pleas Court asking for an injunction against the city to halt its dumping of sewage into the county ditch.

Although municipal leaders feel that the action on the County Health Department's part was unjustified in the face of Salem's rapidly progressing plans to solve its sewage problems, the legal step further emphasizes the urgency of the issue, officials declare.

The issue of whether or not the rates are too high, however, is the one which is prompting the greatest debate, and which municipal officials are most anxious to elaborate upon.

A multitude of conditions and causes makes Salem's sewage situation almost unique and presents adequate rebuttal to the argument that the proposed new disposal plant and enlarged system are too costly, and the rates exorbitant, City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff declares.

IN THE FIRST PLACE the engineer states, Salem is one of the few localities in Ohio which has no carrier stream into which it can dump its sewage, after removing only 65 per cent of its impurities.

Thus, he explains, Salem's present disposal plant—and specifications of the new plant—of necessity were designed to take out more than 90 per cent of sewage impurities, in accordance with state laws. Because of this high degree of purification, the cost to Salem in the construction of adequate facilities and their operation is much higher than would be borne by a similarly-sized city (with an equal population load) but which contains a carrier stream, he declares.

There is, too, the fact that Salem, for years, has made no major improvements whatsoever in the present plant, nor has it kept pace with the city's growth by the expansion of trunk line facilities to adequately handle its sewage, he points out.

FOR THIS REASON the cost to taxpayers now must include not merely the construction of a new sewage disposal plant, but also must provide belatedly for the necessary trunk lines, he explains.

Thus, Barckhoff says, the estimate to build the sewage plant is $492,919, and the funds needed to repair the old plant and extend trunk lines (which should have been done long ago) total an additional $107,165.

However, the main consideration which resulted in establishing the present rates is the city's "pay as we build plan," Mr. Barckhoff states. Under the provisions of this plan, Salem will begin surveys and inaugurate steps to acquire the necessary right-of-ways as soon as the first money is received from the new tax, he states.

It was imperative, he declares, that the rates be sufficiently high to produce the revenue needed to advance the program rapidly.

Under the present rate schedule, the city, unless an unusual and unforeseen population growth demands greater trunk line extension, will be able to pay off the anticipated costs within 20 years, he says.

STATE LAWS, City Solicitor Walter J. Hunston declares, prohibit any municipality from accumulating a surplus through sewer rental levies; so, if the rates are found to be too high, the city must reduce them.

The rate schedule, Mr. Barckhoff says, was established to conform as closely as could be computed with the project requirements—based upon the water duties.

Thus, he explains, Salem's present disposal plant—and specifications of the new plant—of necessity were designed to take out more than 90 per cent of sewage impurities, in accordance with state laws. Because of this high degree of purification, the cost to Salem in the construction of adequate facilities and their operation is much higher than would be borne by a similarly-sized city (with an equal population load) but which contains a carrier stream, he declares.

U. N. Prepares For Possible Wounded Trade Truce Delegate Won't Predict Outcome Of Talks On Exchange

MUNSAN, Korea (P)—The United Nations Command today rushed plans for the possible quick return of sick and wounded Allied prisoners from North Korea.

But the American admiral who will speak for the U.N. in prisoner exchange talks opening Monday at Panmunjom refused to predict the outcome.

"I've been here since June and I would never make the mistake of being optimistic," said Rear Ad. John C. Daniel, a U. N. truce negotiator chosen to head the Allied liaison team.

"I hope the Communists mean business this time," he added.

Daniel, who flew here from Tokyo early this week, has been in almost constant telephone contact with Gen. Mark Clark's Tokyo headquarters.

If the negotiators at Panmunjom agree to exchange sick and wounded prisoners the Eighth Army will handle the transportation, medical care and supply.

Checks On Preparations
Maj. Gen. Paul D. Adams, Eighth Army chief of staff, was at this advance camp Friday checking on preparations.

U. S. Marine engineers were working around the clock on a fence surrounding a large clearing nearby which reportedly will be used either as a receiving point or as a supply depot. One officer said he had orders to finish the fence by nightfall.

Army convoys lined the highway from Seoul to Munsan hauling supplies. One 13-truck convoy carried tent frames and a second convoy of 15 trucks hauled tent canvas, lumber, generators, housekeeping tools and equipment and other supplies.

Korean laborers were also brought in on trucks.

Eighth Army officers planned to mobilize all helicopters that could be spared from the fighting front to airlift sick and wounded prisoners from the Panmunjom exchange point to field hospitals behind the lines.

Present plans call for transporting the less severe cases to the rear by bus and truck and possibly by railroad.

More and more Allied officers and troops arrived at this apple orchard as preparations were stepped up. So far, though Daniel was the only member of the five-man delegation to put in an appearance.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., the senior delegate, remained in Tokyo where he talked with Gen. Clark.

3 Children Die In Flaming Girard Home

YOUNGSTOWN, P.—Three small children burned to death Thursday in a fire that flashed through their two-room frame house at nearby Girard while their mother was shopping.

Fire Chief Nate Walker said their mother, Mrs. Jessie Hulett, found the house in flames when she returned from a grocery store. She tried to get into the blazing house but a neighbor pulled her back from the door, Walker said.

The body of the youngest child, three-month-old John, was found in his crib. Two-year-old Rena died in her bed. Mrs. Hulett said Thomas, 3, her oldest son, had been reading a comic book when she went to the store 15 minutes earlier.

Chief Walker said the blaze may have started from a coal heating stove in the dwelling.

The father, Thomas Hulett, was in Youngstown, working for a motor agency, his wife said.

Two Teenage Girls Hurt In Road Mishap

Two East Liverpool teenagers were injured in one of three mishaps investigated by Salem State Highway Patrolmen Thursday.

Barbara Freer, 15, suffered a bruised shoulder and Peggy Gray, 16, sustained a bruised leg when a car driven by Kenneth Roger, 20, of Darlington, Pa., in which they were passengers, collided with an auto operated by John McKenzie, 30, of London, O., at the intersection of Routes 165 and 62 at 9:10 p.m.

McKenzie was driving north on 62 and Roger, west on Route 165. Roger was arrested by patrolmen on a stop sign violation charge.

A truck - trailer operated by George Hansen, 46, of Riverton, N. J., rammed into the rear of a car driven by Matthew Redpath, 57, of Columbiana on Route 14, one and one-half miles east of Salem, at 3:45 p.m.

In the third accident yesterday, a car driven by Cornelius Tarver, 67, of East Liverpool ran into the rear of another car operated by Herbert Holtzman, 23, of New Waterford, on Route 7, one and one-half miles south of Rogers, at 4:20 p.m.

U.S. To Take Soviet Peace Approaches At Face Value

Chinese Hit U. N. Lines 2nd Time In Day

Reds Quickly Routed;
Probes Beaten Back;
Clouds Ground Planes

SEOUL (P)—Chinese Communist troops hit Allied lines in Central Korea today for the second time in 24 hours, hurling a 175-man attack against a strategic outpost hill northeast of Choswon.

Troops of the U. S. 3rd division, 15th Regiment, routed the Reds in a bloody two-hour battle marked by hand - to - hand fighting, the Eighth Army said.

The Chinese fired more than 3,300 artillery shells before and during the attack.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said that at no time did the Americans lose control of the hill. Fifteen Chinese bodies were left on the hill and the Army estimated at least 30 others were killed or wounded.

In the same general area a full Chinese battalion attacked positions of the South Korean Capital Division before dawn Thursday, but the ROKs threw back the assault in a 40-minute battle.

The Central Front attacks followed the pattern of last week's vicious Red assaults on Old Baldy, Vegas, Reno and Carson outposts on the Western Front—but were on a smaller scale. Observers said the Reds apparently intend to continue military pressure against Allied lines despite recent truce proposals.

O'Neill To Make Narcotics Study

State To Attack
Problem In Ohio

COLUMBUS, O. (P)—A full-scale study of narcotics traffic in Ohio will be ready to roll by early June.

It will be conducted by Attorney General C. William O'Neill under orders of the Republican Ohio Legislature — if Gov. Frank J. Lausche signs the act setting up the study. He is expected to do so promptly.

Legislation authorizing the inquiry, finally enacted Thursday, goes into effect 90 days after Lausche signs it.

Staff Is Ready
O'Neill says his staff will be ready to go into action then.

"Our first job," O'Neill said, "will be to gather information to find out what the narcotics problem is in Ohio. That is a job that has never been done here before."

Narcotics agents rate Cleveland the fifth and Cincinnati the seventh worst cities in the nation in the extent of drug addiction, O'Neill disclosed, adding:

"Drug addiction is more widespread than the average individual believes."

Subsidy Fight Seen
A legislative fight over the perennial school subsidy issue appeared to be developing between the education committees of the two houses. Informed legislative sources report the House committee is insisting the Senate group act first — a departure from normal procedure.

The Senate normally favors a higher school subsidy than the House. There had been a reported agreement between House and Senate leaders for a 20 million dollar increase in the next two years above the amount the schools received in the biennium which ends June 30. Senate Education Committee members now are reported to favor a greater increase.

Reportedly the House committee wants to have a chance to cut the Senate figure rather than see the Senate raise the House figure.

4 Men Killed On Way To Vacation

AKRON, O. (P) — Four North Carolina men going home for Easter from factory jobs in Cleveland were killed today when their car hit a truck at Loyal Oak just west of here.

The sheriff's office identified the dead men as:

Charles D. Henson, 19, Rt. 1, Vinas.

Henry Wilson, 21, and his brother James, 18, Zionville.

Cecil R. Perkins, 23, Rt. 1, Conilly.

A coroner's investigator, Charles J. Madden, said letters found on the bodies indicated the men were going home for an Easter vacation. All four worked in the Fisher Body Co. plant in Cleveland.

Leroy A. Paine, 35, of Akron, driver of the tractor-trailer truck involved, was unhurt. He told sheriff's deputies he was traveling east on Ohio 261, en route to Akron from Columbus, and had nearly cleared the intersection on a green light when the accident occurred.

No Pike Paving Seen This Year

COURT'S DECISION
Delays Construction

COLUMBUS, O. (P) — Legal red tape will prevent the Ohio Turnpike Commission from laying down any pavement this year.

The commission reluctantly reached that conclusion this week after an adverse court decision. Members figured they will be out some 15 million dollars in revenues from the toll road because of the new impasse.

They expected traffic would roll by year-end on the first 22 miles of four-lane highway westward from a juncture with the Pennsylvania Turnpike at the Ohio border. They predicted the rest of the 241-mile turnpike across Northern Ohio would be opened in November, 1954.

Now Chief Engineer T. J. Kauer says the 326 million-dollar highway can't be completed until at least July, 1955.

An unlooked for court decision upset the timetable. Asphalt-makers brought suit to force the commission to consider their product. The commission previously decided to use only cement.

The Second District Court of Appeals ordered the commission to prepare specifications and take bids on both asphalt and cement immediately.

Held Special Meeting

Commissioners held a special meeting to size things up. Gov. Frank J. Lausche, other state officials and more than a dozen top officials of engineering, banking and investment firms attended.

They generally agreed the court suit would have to be disposed of before turnpike paving could be laid. Attorneys appealed to the state Supreme Court for a final decision. And they said Chief Justice Carl V. Weyandt Monday will hear a request to stay the appeals court order.

Thursday Sermon Here Ends Holy Week Noonday Services

The plea of the 'chief on the cross, "Jesus remember me," and the promise of Jesus, "today shalt thou be with me in paradise," were contained in the sermon of Dr. Frederick Curt's Fowler at noon Thursday in the State Theater, concluding the Holy Week services which began Monday.

Rev. R. J. Hunter presided at yesterday's service.

Dr. Fowler pointed out that our "lives may be harsh, our lives may be difficult, our lives may deny our dreams and half starve our hopes, but if you can say, 'I with Jesus,' you have a reward." If, like the thief, we crave forgiveness, we will find "joy unspeakable and life eternal," the Pittsburgh minister declared.

"To what else can you cling?" Dr. Fowler asked as he pictured Jesus dying for the sins of the world—a friend of sinners all his life and a friend of sinners unto death. When Jesus told the repentant thief that they would be together in paradise, he put the seal to the truth for which he gave his life. Dr. Fowler declared, for the thief was lifted from the deepest depth of despair to sainthood.

Washington Feels Reds Move Toward Truce In Korea

WASHINGTON (P)—Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov had President Eisenhower's own words today to assure him that all Russian peace approaches are being received by the U. S. government at full face value.

Eisenhower made this statement at a news conference yesterday, saying the government should take every offer made by Russia at face value until it is proved not worthy of being so considered.

Behind his words is a widespread belief of top officials here that the Communists are moving toward agreement on a truce in Korea and perhaps other tension easing settlements. This has still to be proved, however, and what the Reds actually do in the prospective renewal of peace talks in Korea is looked to here as a definitive test of their intentions.

Meeting Move Possible

Meanwhile, the whole public exchange of peace moves and responses from the Communist and Western sides appears to be enhancing the chances of an eventual meeting between Eisenhower and Malenkov.

Diplomatic authorities expect that if and when this occurs it will most likely include British Prime Minister Churchill and French Premier Mayer as well.

The U. S., British, French and other friendly governments have been consulting intensively on the Kremlin's evident peace offensive.

They are reported to have come to an understanding to maintain a flexible, open-minded attitude toward specific propositions put forward by the Reds.

The President's words yesterday were clearly in line with this understanding. Though spoken informally to a news conference, they had the diplomatic effect of officially informing Moscow of this government's readiness to deal with Communist proposals on the initial assumption that they are made in good faith.

Asked About Peace Moves

The President was asked for his estimate or analysis of recent peace overtures from the Russians and the Communist Chinese, the latter having accepted the United Nations suggestion for immediate exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war in Korea and having sought resumption of the truce talks.

Eisenhower said it was very difficult to make an estimate of the situation.

M'Carthy Backed On Greek Trade

Senator Regards Ike Talk As Victory

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) evidently regarded as a victory today President Eisenhower's refusal to condemn his unorthodox attempts to curb free world trade with Communist nations.

Eisenhower discounted the contention of Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen that McCarthy was undermining the State Department and some of its policies by getting pledges from Greek ship owners not to trade with Red China and North Korea.

The President told his news conference it would take more than an error by a senator to undermine U. S. policy or the State Department. He said Stassen probably had meant in the first place to say "infringe" instead of "undermine."

And, Eisenhower added, he would not say that no good could come from McCarthy's dealings with the ship owners even though, as he put it, these efforts may be misguided.

Eisenhower emphasized, however, that the power to negotiate foreign agreements rests solely with the President and the State Department.

McCarthy, at his office, told reporters he agreed that he and his Senate investigations subcommittee could not negotiate with foreign governments.

"We have not done that, and we do not intend to," he added.

Clearly pleased by the over-all tenor of what Eisenhower had said, the senator told reporters:

"I assume he would agree that if ship owners voluntarily remove their ships from trade with the Communists, that is a blow to the enemy and an aid to us."

McCarthy made public then a letter to Secretary of State Dulles

THE MAGIC EGG—The Little People's Easter Story

THERE WERE MANY WHO LOVED AND FOLLOWED JESUS AND BELIEVED IN HIS GOODNESS. THEY WERE AWED BY HIS POWER TO HEAL THE SICK AND TO MAKE THE LAME WALK...

BUT THE WICKED RULERS HATED JESUS AND WERE FEARFUL OF HIS POWER AND HIS LARGE FOLLOWING. SO THEY FLOGGED AND TORTURED HIM AND NAILED HIM TO A CROSS...

JUST BEFORE HE DIED, HE FORGAVE HIS ENEMIES. JESUS WAS BURIED AND THE FOLKS WHO LOVED AND BELIEVED IN HIM WEPT BECAUSE OF THE GOOD HE HAD DONE AND THE MIRACLES HE HAD PERFORMED...

announcing that another foreign ship owner was "voluntarily" removing his vessels from the trade with Red China and the Soviet bloc nations.

The senator had announced Saturday he had "negotiated" an agreement with a New York group of Greeks who operate 242 ships. He said they pledged not to carry goods to Communist China and North Korea or between Communist ports.

This left them free, however, to haul goods from Western waters to other Iron Curtain areas, and McCarthy told a reporter there is a reason for that. To seek to bind them to a complete West-to-East boycott, he said, "could have meant infringing on State Department jurisdiction, and we don't want to do that."

While the U. S. has barred all trade between this country and the Reds, some Western nations permit some such trade because they need the Communist goods they get in return.

McCarthy, in a letter to Dulles yesterday said that some press and TV coverage deliberately misrepresented what had happened when he and Dulles met in a private conference Wednesday. He said a wire service reported that Dulles had "warned" McCarthy against interfering in State Department affairs, and that a television broadcast helped to foster that impression.

"As I recall it," McCarthy wrote Dulles, "there was not even the slightest indication by anyone present that my committee was interfering in foreign policy or in any way with your department, and, therefore, no occasion for any 'warning.'"

President Says Butter Prices Are Too High

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says butter is pricing itself out of the market, and unless there is some change in the government price support program, he doesn't know what the solution is.

The government is currently buying, at 67 2-3 cents a pound, about two million pounds a day, the President told his news conference, and some of its huge stock is getting close to the spoilage point.

It's a crime against civilization to allow to spoil anything that could be used by someone, even if it had to be virtually given away, Eisenhower said. He added he couldn't imagine anything worse than to destroy it when people are hungry.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who has announced he will continue to support prices of dairy products at present levels for another year, is currently meeting with dairy industry representatives in an effort to solve an over-production problem.

Mayor Gets Revenge On Former Teacher

CHESAPEAKE, O. (AP)—Mayor Jake Smith figures it was poetic justice.

As village magistrate, his honor had before him a woman charged with a traffic violation. He recognized her as one of his former school teachers.

On her plea of guilty, Mayor Smith said:

"I sentence you to either pay $5 or write on a piece of paper 'I shall not cross the yellow line' 20 times."

"I'll pay the five dollars," the teacher said.

FIRE KILLS BABY

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—A fire killed 14-month-old Will Ridley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Ridley, as he lay asleep in his crib Thursday. Flames and smoke thwarted rescue attempts by the boy's mother and firemen.

INDICTED FOR MURDER

CANTON, O. (AP)—Factory worker Harold J. Painter of Massillon has been indicted on a second degree murder indictment in the shooting of his wife, Dorothy, last Feb. 13.

18-Year-Old Killer Refuses Father's Offer Of Legal Aid

DUBUQUE, Ia. (AP)—An 18-year-old confessed slayer of five persons remained adamant in refusing his father's pleas to accept legal counsel today as authorities in at least two states prepared to ask the youth's extradition.

But the father, Mose McManus, Valley Stream, Long Island, brewery executive, after a third visit with his son Fred Eugene, said the boy's attitude had changed considerably.

"Now he is more like his true self to his dad," the elder McManus said.

He added, however, his son still would not let him retain an attorney.

"The family can use the money better than I can," the youth asserted. "I'll wait and let the court appoint an attorney for me."

The father said that although his son told him he "should go back to the family," he will stay on here as long as there is a chance that he can be helpful.

The two concluded their third meeting last night shortly before Rochester, N. Y., officials located the first of young McManus' five victims—William A. Braverman, 19-year-old Hobart College freshman.

The body was found shortly before dusk in an abandoned gravel pit about six miles east of Rochester by the pit owner, who had a "hunch" after he recalled seeing a car near an adjoining pit last Friday.

The search for the body of Braverman, missing since last Friday, had gone on since McManus told authorities here Tuesday night the college student was his first victim in a cross-country crime spree. McManus said he shot Braverman for his car.

After searching in vain for two days on the strength of vague directions from young McManus, New York officials had asked Iowa for temporary custody of the youth so that he could show them where he buried Braverman's body.

Dubuque County Atty. Robert L. Oeth, notified that the body had been found, said he plans to "sit tight" and let each state start extradition proceedings.

Dubuque County Sheriff Leo Martin had been prepared to leave for Rochester by train last night with McManus until Iowa Atty. Gen. Leo Hoegh advised against letting New York have the youth until it could produce a body and consequently a murder warrant.

At Wheaton, Ill., authorities concerned with the slayings of George and Florence Bloomberg at Keeneyville, Ill., began legal action to bring to Illinois McManus and 16-year-old Diana Marie Wegeland of Irondequoit, N. Y., arrested with him.

2 Nazis Released By West Germans

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—Two of seven Germans arrested by British authorities on charges of plotting a Nazi conspiracy against the Bonn government were freed last night by a West German Supreme Court order.

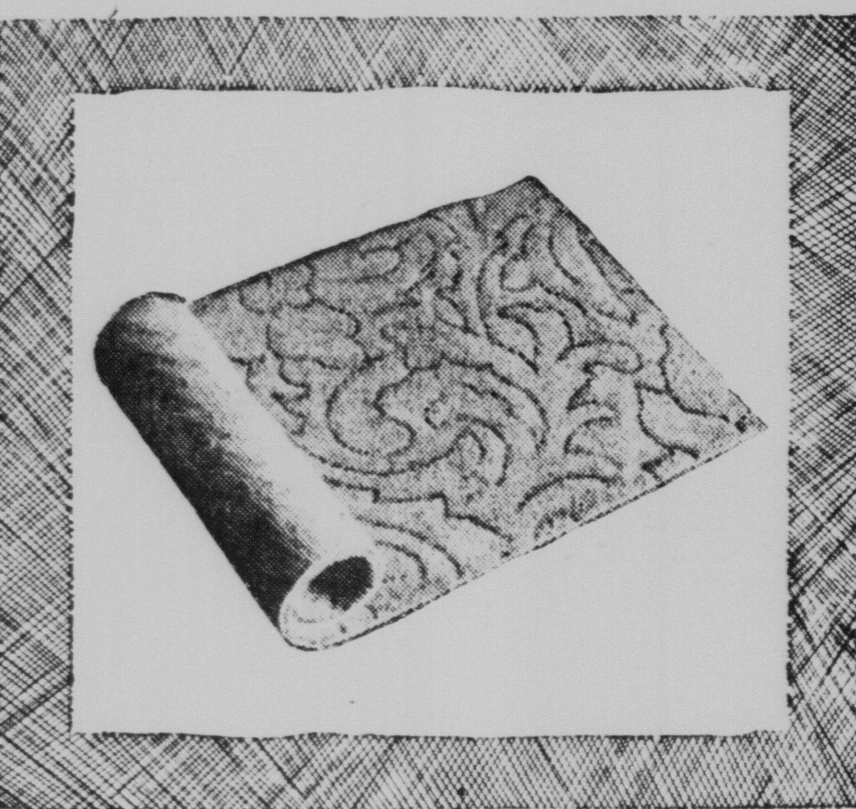

Continued imprisonment was ordered for four of the accused. The seventh man, Karl Kaufmann, was released Wednesday because he was too ill to stand trial.

The British arrested the Germans in January and handed them over to the German government Wednesday.

Those freed yesterday were Dr. Karl Scharping and Dr. Heinrich Haselmeyer, both former Nazi officials.

New U. N. Chief To Arrive In Week

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Dag Hammarskjöld of Sweden, nominated to succeed Trygve Lie as U.N. secretary general, is expected to take over the job next week. He still must be approved by the 60-nation General Assembly but delegates see no bar to his final election.

The 47-year-old Swedish diplomat told Lie in a message yesterday he would resign as Sweden's deputy foreign minister as soon as he is confirmed by the Assembly for the $40,000-a-year, tax-free post and fly to New York the next day. The Assembly is expected to take up his election when it reconvenes Tuesday afternoon. If given quick approval, Hammarskjöld could arrive here Thursday morning and be ready to be sworn in that afternoon.

U. S. To Have Bigger Deficit Than Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government finance specialists said today the country appears headed for a deficit of nearly 6½ billion dollars—about a half-billion more than predicted—by the end of the fiscal year on June 30.

The specialists, who asked not to be named, said in separate interviews:

1. With most of the big march tide of tax dollars counted, net revenues this year may be a billion dollars less than the $68,697,000,000 former President Truman predicted in his final budget message last January.

2. With the fiscal year three-quarters gone, expenditures may run about a half-billion less than the $74,593,000,000 Truman forecast.

This would mean a deficit of about 6,400,000,000 rather than the $5,896,000,000 forecast by Truman. Such a deficit would hamper President Eisenhower's drive to balance the budget for fiscal 1954, starting July 1.

Revenues are still to come in during the last quarter of the waning fiscal year, and spending between now and June 30 could change these estimates radically. There are two big question marks:

1. How much of the flood of tax collections resulting from the March 15 income tax deadline is still to be deposited to government accounts?

2. How are corporation income tax collections running?

These questions cannot be answered, perhaps, until near the end of April. Last year there was a considerable spillover.

Greenford Red Cross Campaign Over Goal

GREENFORD — With other collections to be made, the 1953 Green Township Red Cross campaign is over its goal by $50.

A total of $400 has been received. Mrs. W. J. Weikart reported at the Red Cross report meeting at Youngstown.

RACING SUIT DISMISSED

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Ralph J. Bartlett Thursday dismissed a taxpayer's suit by Cleveland real estate broker Charles P. Masterson who sought to end horse race betting in Ohio. Judge Bartlett said Masterson had not shown any personal injury from betting.

Herbert Seen Likely Board Chief Choice

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Gov. Thomas J. Herbert of Ohio today was reported as President Eisenhower's likely choice for chairman of the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Herbert, 58-year-old Cleveland lawyer, has been backed by Ohio's Republican Senators Taft and Bricker for a federal appointment.

If he is named chairman, Herbert would succeed Peter Campbell Brown, who has been acting chairman since June, 1951.

The board, set up under the McCarran Internal Security Act, currently is engaged in determining whether the Communist party in this country is dominated by Russia and whether it should be forced to register and disclose membership lists.

Anniversary Of A Turning Point

It has been one year since the collapse of management-union talks in the steel industry and the beginning of a momentous chain of events in American history.

There has been enough time since then to begin to understand the impact of an event which had profound effects on politics, law and, as revealed recently, the lives and security of men fighting in behalf of freedom in Korea.

Philip Murray is dead. Harry Truman is out of office. The Democratic party is out of power. There is a new chief of the CIO and a new president of USW. But Federal Judge David A. Pine, who ruled that Mr. Truman's seizure of steel properties was illegal, is still on the bench of the U.S. District Court in Washington. The Supreme Court of the United States, which upheld Judge Pine, is intact.

There has been no further talk of seizure by presidential order of any industry — and there is not likely to be any. It is unthinkable in April, 1953, that any union executive might be told by the president of the United States that he could count on the president's seizure of a whole industry to back up a union's demand.

It is almost beyond belief now that these things were done in callous disregard of the welfare of Americans and their allies in a war with a determined enemy; that a president of the United States had been crowded so far toward authoritarian thinking that he dared to ride roughshod over constitutional rights.

It is out of fashion in 1953 to discuss Trumanism as a phase of American politics with a separate and distinct identity. But on the anniversary of Trumanism's grand climax and the steel-seizure episode, it is timely to recall that the straw which broke the voters' patience probably was added during the first few days of April, 1952.

In early June, the Supreme Court sustained Judge Pine, the USW closed down the steel industry and kept it idle until the end of July.

The ammunition shortage in Korea became more acute. The CIO and the ADA dictated the nomination of Adlai Stevenson at Chicago, to carry on Trumanism, and the November election was in sight.

Bohlen Was Incidental

Surely it could not have been foreseen by Sen. McCarthy and his backers in the Bohlen case that they were going to precipitate a vote of confidence in the Eisenhower administration.

There is only one reason for having a showdown of that magnitude in a parliamentary government, where a defeat for the government means a change of prime ministers, or in a government of fixed terms.

That is to destroy or confirm confidence in the government.

Since Sen. McCarthy and his backers were not interested in confirming confidence in President Eisenhower's administration, they must have been trying to destroy confidence in it.

That was aim they could not possibly fulfill at this time. The Eisenhower administration is still organizing its personnel. Charles E. Bohlen will be its first ambassador to the Soviet Union.

In the final argument against him, the only substantial objection which could be made by the McCarthy faction in the Senate was his former association with a Democratic administration. Secretary of State Dulles, himself, had been identified with a Democratic administration, too, as was President Eisenhower.

Did Sen. McCarthy seriously think he could win on the issue of whether or not every person who had been part of a Democratic government would be cast into outer darkness.

Children Of Nature

The best of April was given a mid-March preview. But now there can be more — much more — of warming sunshine and refreshing rainfall.

There can be less — much less — of frost, chill, sleet and gray skies.

But something about April is more important than flattering comparisons with the least favored months of the year.

April is a time for reunion with those sympathetic elements of nature that sustain men's hopes. It is a time to sit on a sun-warmed knoll and muse about the source of man's being and his joy in being what he is at his best.

It is a time to put aside unimportant matters like the misbehavior of men for eternal verities like the coursing of meadow — bound brooks to the ultimate sea and hence back, via the fleecy clouds, to the land again.

It is a time to remember that all this is the way it was before any of the things which aggravate the soul had been thought of — and to comprehend why it will be the same way after all these things have been disposed of.

is a time, in short, for the children of nature to observe mother's day with what dignity they have left after their minor and major misbehaviors.

April, this spring, comes not a moment too soon. It never does.

Spiritual Diary for Lent

In the beginning God . . . —Genesis 1:1.

Hope thou in the Lord, for with Him there is mercy and plenteous redemption. Humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, and He shall lift you up. Draw nigh unto Him and, He will draw nigh unto you. —From an Old Hymn Book

Today's Message

Primitive man, viewing with awe the world in which he lived, sought an Eternal Cause. The inspired writer set forth the simple belief of a chosen people: "In the beginning—God!" On this simple faith he predicated his existence and built his future. Out of this faith there came the mighty men of old—men whose faith changed the course of mankind for good.

Modern man, who has been granted a larger revelation of knowledge wrought in the laboratories of mankind, has radically changed his way of living. He has turned night into day with electric power; Winter into Summer with controlled heat; the sweat of the brow has given way to the push-button; and the devout sacrifice at the altar has been replaced by the cynical brittleness of an indifferent worship. In the midst of these changes life for many people has become a "dark and barren vale between two ice-clad peaks of cold eternity." Each in his own way cries the eternal question: "What is my destiny? On what can I count?"

Once again we need to stand out under the stars, free of the weights of civilization, and learn anew the lesson that "In the beginning—God," that "in Him we live and move and have our being" and that "our souls are restless until we find our peace" in Him.

Today's Prayer

O God, in the midst of a world that seemingly has driven Thee from its heart by its failure to understand Thy workings, forgive us, and may we find the pathway back to Thee. Amen.

Parlor Strategists

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Would Apologists Abolish West Point, Annapolis?

Maybe after reading the testimony of Generals Van Fleet and Almond before the Senate Armed Services committee, the apologists for the Truman - Acheson regime, who have been trying desperately to squelch all investigations by Congress into what has been happening inside the government in recent years, will find it logical to recommend that West Point and Annapolis be abolished and the whole strategy of war be taught hereafter by the State Department.

For it is difficult to understand the duties a military commander can perform in the future which resemble what soldiers have been taught heretofore when his instructions are coming from diplomats in 12 different countries in a so-called alliance.

Nowadays a commander cannot lay plans to fight the enemy aggressively without asking permission from the so-called "civilian" side of the government, usually the Department of State, which under the last administration considered itself obligated to make no moves in Korea without consulting the foreign offices of our so-called Allies.

The testimony of Gen. Van Fleet, just given, that twice he could have destroyed the Red armies in Korea and was ready to make a seaborne strike to accomplish that mission but was stopped by "higher orders" is a tragic confirmation of what has been said repeatedly in these dispatches ever since Gen. MacArthur was summarily dismissed in April 1951, that the State Department has been running the war in Korea.

The fact is that military men have been compelled to bow completely to the diplomats, and the strange thing is that some of the highest military officers in the Pentagon have accepted this as their duty.

The theory that diplomats make foreign policy is well understood, of course, but, once a war breaks out, it is unprecedented for military commanders to be required to consult the Department of State to find out how much intensity should be put into the fighting.

It appears now that the shortage of ammunition in Korea was probably deliberate. Senators on the armed services committee say openly that they suspect that the amount of ammunition sent to Korea was in accord with the "type of war" that the State Department wanted to see carried on.

There was always enough ammunition available to carry on a sit-down war, but never enough to attack the enemy. Offensives were not wanted. Victory was tabooed as an objective. Gen. Van Fleet says American lives were sacrificed by that policy.

What is surprising is the manner in which military chiefs in the Pentagon in their public speeches have heaved to the State Department "line." At times they seem to have been engaged actually in propagandizing for it.

The Senate committee would do well to investigate the extent to which the military chiefs were used to put out the foreign-policy "line" in the last few years, employing their prestige to influence public opinion on political policies.

Certainly it is contradictory to hear military chiefs say that the civilian authority must be supreme and that the military shall have nothing to say about foreign policy and then to witness their own public statements extolling the foreign policy already laid down by the previous administration and excusing their speechmaking as a means of educating the public.

Why did they have to discuss foreign policy or justify stalemated wars in public?

A lot of nonsense has been uttered about the importance of "civilian control" of the military. Does it mean that "thought control" must be imposed and that military men must forget all they were taught about pressing for a military victory when hostilities break out in U.S. wars? There is testimony before congressional committees which reflects this kind of defeatism.

It is so unusual for military men to talk that way that one wonders if the preceding administration intimidated the officers in question and caused them to make some of the speeches they did and to give some of the testimony they gave at the hearings when the MacArthur case was under investigation.

The sad fact remains that 131,000 casualties have been recorded to date for the American armed forces in Korea and that of these 23,000 are dead.

It certainly doesn't make relatives of those who were killed feel that the sacrifices were justified when every proposal to achieve military victory still has to be evaluated in terms of whether someone in the State Department or British Foreign Office thinks it will "enlarge the war." Sen. Symington said the other day in a comment to the Senate Armed Services Committee about the use of the atomic bomb in Korea: "It seems to me in our refusal to use the atomic bomb we may be asking a lot more of our own youth to die in Korea because many of us are afraid of what might happen to us over here."

The question is: How long are American boys going to be sacrificed in so-called U.N. wars throughout the world while ammunition to fight offensively is denied them intermittently and orders are dispatched preventing our best military officers from doing what they have been taught to do—once the blood of American boys is spilled in war?

The Senate committee will not get the answer till it examines all members of the high command and elicits from them information as to the limits imposed upon them by the Department of State in the last few years.

It's an important lesson for the future that cannot be disregarded if American courage on the battlefield is not to be stunted by the newfangled notion that it's all right for American boys to be killed but they can't be allowed to use maximum power to kill the enemy.

It's not the way to build morale or a fighting spirit as American youth are being drafted every day to defend the U.N. against aggressors on distant battlefields.

A scientist says man's energy is worth a penny an hour. Watch it take a sudden drop when spring arrives.

How Intelligence Services Gather Data

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

References to FBI files have been constant during the past few years with little understanding of what they are. Perhaps it would be advantageous to explain how intelligence services generally gather and evaluate information. This would apply to all agencies, except that some eliminate data at low levels, which is usually regarded as a dangerous process.

Sokolsky

Such an organization as the FBI, in its raw files, will contain a vast amount of material, of varying value, which comes from many sources. Some of the data are demonstrably true; some require investigation and substantiation; some may be viciously false and may indicate that the provider should be investigated.

A sound intelligence organization eliminates nothing on a current question. What may seem to be preposterous today may turn out to be absolutely correct a year from now. Data should only be eliminated as useless and incorrect when a file is closed.

If an intelligence agency eliminates data on a low level, its files may prove to be inadequate and practically useless when a situation becomes hot.

Evaluation of data is an extremely difficult undertaking involving specialized knowledge and extraordinarily sound judgment.

For instance, in the evaluation of material concerning areas, such as Russia, China, Albania, Egypt, Israel, or any other place, the evaluator must have knowledge, prior to his approach to the data, of the language, the history, geography, traditions, religious conflicts, social institutions, personalities, and about everything else.

Without these skills, an evaluator could not understand the material before him.

THEREFORE no properly or-the intent of softening up the American people in favor of Soviet Russia. The intent is different and that is important.

The raw files of the FBI or any other agency should not be shown to untrained eyes. They would reach false conclusions. No man, no matter how skillful, could look at only one raw file and reach a sound conclusion; he would have to correlate what he saw in that file with material in dozens of other files.

ON THE OTHER hand, the Constitution provides that government officials should be appointed with the advice and consent of the Senate. Any committee of Congress would accept an FBI evaluation as long as that agency remains non-political and objective.

Such evaluations should be provided directly to congressional committees upon request. Showing such an evaluation to two Senators, as in the Bohlen case, is silly. If two can look at it, 10 can. If a committee of Congress cannot be trusted, why should a State Department official be trusted?

If an FBI evaluation were available, much of the investigative work of Congressional committees could be eliminated.

The obiter dictum of a high official is worthless because he has made no study of the material, and even if he were to make a study, the question arises whether he is sufficiently skilled, in a highly specialized field, to evaluate the material. Few can.

Disagrees with Hal Boyle

The News: After reading an article in your newspaper by Hal Boyle entitled "Rebellious Children" I would like to go on record as one who does not agree with Mr. Boyle's philosophy of rearing children.

As we all know that in this day in which we live there is little restraint, almost no discipline, and not much guidance for most of our children. We have been a victim of an educational theory which has had far reaching effects and has set the stage for our present conditions of juvenile delinquency and adolescent criminals.

This theory advocates self-expression and no repressions. Let the child do what it wants to do, when and where it wants to do so. Therefore, in schools and homes children are permitted to run wild, unrestrained.

Paul Mallon says in his book The Ease Era: "There are literally hundreds of thousands, if not millions, of homes in which there is a degrading and degenerating absence of discipline. Who can conceive of a man who is supposed to be intelligent, saying, that if he had a child that he would encourage it to be rebellious that it might grow up to be an unsuccessful bank robber."

From that statement we can understand why, he could also say in the same article that Jesus Christ the Son of God was a rebel. Who is to blame for the godless atmosphere in our schools and colleges? Who put the Bible out and put the dance in? Who made cigarette smoking popular and drinking approved? The children? Oh, no! Who is to blame for the weak, ineffective condition of our churches? Why is it that only one out of every three people in the world is a professing Christian? That over two thirds of the world is lost? It is the people who have forgotten God. Selfish, willful, ir-religious, sinful, God-forgetting parents setting the pace and becoming the ideals of some sons and daughters.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

My barber worked out the new Einstein theory on the back of a hot towel and he predicts that a beef will continue to drop in price.

But he says, "One thing you've got to hand Albert—not many men of his age could come up with a doodle like that without his relatives calling in the family lawyer to frame a property settlement."

One science fellow says Einstein has now reduced the physical universe to a few simple concepts but even he doesn't claim that Al has even given us a secret number for reducing a Mike Quill to simple size.

So They Say

I have no admiration for you.—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy to Earl Browder, one-time top U. S. Communist.

Senator, it is quite mutual.—Earl Browder, in reply to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

We desire CIO unions' organic unity with the AFL, but on an honorable basis.—David J. McDonald, CIO Steelworkers' president, on proposed CIO-AFL merger.

All this talk about government secrets is a lot of hokum.—Elder Statesman Bernard Baruch, before the Senate Banking Committee.

Senator McCarthy reminds me of the college senior writing a test paper—he can't distinguish between evidence and surmise, fact and fiction.—Hunter College president Dr. George N. Schuster, who, Senator McCarthy says, failed to fire an alleged Communist teacher.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Einstein's Latest

We have been studying the latest Einstein Theory of Relativity and our ignorance remains intact but groggy. We are left with an impression that whatever intelligence we possess has been knuckle-balled to death. If we get it correctly Dr. Einstein's latest 1953 model streamlined equation reads:

"GiK: 2 minus 0 plus auk equals 9.

Reckerty-Kex equals 0 plus RSVP over Huh.

This is a broad advance over the conclusion that RIK minus SNAFU is the equal of Vox over Pop, but it still leaves the question of this year's Kentucky Derby winner up in the air and gives no adequate algebraic answer to "Can the Bums repeat this year?" "Whatever became of Senator Kefauver?" and "Are the olive and the Martini a dual necessity under the law of Newton and Alcoholics Anonymous?" Even assuming the new equation could supply the answer to these questions of cosmic importance, is not the entire matter subject to a review by Sen. McCarthy, Dagmar and Mosadegh?

Epochal as is Dr. Einstein's new theorem, which now includes an intellectual synthesis embracing both the field of gravitation and electro-magnetism, the amazing concept barely touches the reasons for the behavior of a man walking backwards up a moving stairway (beyond establishing that it is his own fault) and leaves unexplained the reason why a $3,800 sedan is always equipped with a $1.50 clock; why a man putting on his socks in the dark will always get one on inside out and how come that when "A" sets his sights on the parking space "X", the character designated as "B" will, back into it first?

Dr. Einstein holds that the quantum theory of discontinuity of duality of particle and wave is incomplete and that we are in a continuous nondualistic universe governed by immutable laws (with the kidney punch barred), but he clearly implies that if you multiply the residue of six and play a cushion shot, with no deductions for losses by storm, the record set by the horse in his last seven races should be a reasonable guide to Saturday's Handicap, if you can ascertain if they are really trying. (A lot depends X plus Oops minus TV) on whether you read the chart in a subway train in which the lights flicker.—Editor's note.)

As we see it, Dr. Einstein's latest equation, after a try on for size, and done with a proper ballet, supports the Saroyan theory as applied to the "Omnibus" radio program and this may be what Tennessee Williams is trying to prove.

The Einstein theory as printed has too many ciphers and, all in all, looks like a fifth inning score from the baseball training camps. Then, too, the plus signs would seem to have been put in by the stock market optimists to sum up the effect on groceries, nothing has been heard from Mike Quill on he matter, no mention is made of Marilyn Monroe and the whole thing can be upset by Ben Hecht, Leo Durocher or the USSR.

There is no definite box-office appeal and we fail to see how the newest Einstein equation can get public attention unless it can be dressed up for video and explained minutely by an adequate name-band. (The terrible thing is that this could happen to Eisenhower so early in his effort to give the public a better understanding of everything. If in doubt phone B-g-low 8-0987 but don't send any box tops.)

Sorority Has Ceremony In Columbiana

The jewel-pin ceremony of Gamma Eta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha took place Sunday at 6 o'clock in the Columbiana Lutheran Church.

Miss Leona Ehrhart, pianist, opened the service with a solo, "Nocturne" by Edward Grieg, and she accompanied Miss Camille Esenwein as she sang, "My Task."

In an impressive ceremony, nine charter members of Gamma Eta Chapter were received into full membership. Mrs. Noreen Bailey, field representative of the sorority, conducted the service.

The pledges knelt at a Bible-centered altar draped in white and lighted by candles arranged with jonquils, the sorority flower. A bronze bowl in front of the Bible held 10 yellow candles representing the 10 virtues of the sorority.

After the members received their pins, Mrs. Bailey presented Mrs. Robert Wolfgang a pin as a gift from the sorority in appreciation of her work as educational director. In turn flowers were presented to Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Wolfgang.

Prayer by Mrs. Leona Caldwell, educational director of Lisbon Gamma Beta Chapter, closed the service at the church and the party sojourned to Heck's restaurant for dinner. Thirty-seven members and guests were seated at tables attractively arranged in the blue and gold theme, sorority colors, carried out with iris and jonquils, yellow candles and greenery.

Sewage

partment's estimates of future city growth.

The overall plan calls for construction of different phases of the sewage system in accordance with population increases. Should the water department figures prove out of proportion with actual city growth, the project could be halted at any time, thereby saving the taxpayers money, Mr. Barckhoff points out.

There is one alternative to the proposed financing of the sewage project, Mr. Barckhoff declares — that of selling mortgage revenue bonds. In that way, he says, the city could receive the full amount of money immediately from the bonding companies and complete the project in a year or so.

Also, he states, the city could take a longer period than 20 years to redeem the bonds, and thereby reduce the sewage rates to Salem residents.

THIS, HOWEVER, would represent an additional cost to taxpayers, rather than a decrease, he says. If the city were to finance the project through a 30-year bond issue, he declares, the interest charges alone might total in the neighborhood of $450,000.

The last $200,000 which Salem received through the sale of bonds to complete the East Cold Run Reservoir, he cites as an example, carried interest charges totaling more than $100,000.

Solicitor Hunston emphasizes Mr. Barckhoff's words by stating that his office has been deluged with bonding company letters during the past few weeks, offering to advance the city money for sewage expansion through mortgage bonds. "That is exactly what we are trying to avoid, because of the additional cost involved," he says.

City officials are aware that the recent publicity regarding the East Cold Run Water Reservoir is affecting the public's attitude toward the sewage project. They know that there are residents who are dubious about any new city move.

It was for this reason, officials said, that the proposed project was studied and debated at countless closed meetings, and every facet checked and re-checked, before any notice was given out on it. State Health Department engineers have gone over the plans and approved them, as have engineers of other state departments, they state.

City officials feel that the project is sound in every aspect. They know that the rates are high, but believe that this very fact will ultimately result in savings to Salem's residents.

But they know, too, that despite their work on the project and the passage of the sewer rental ordinance, the people can still "upset the apple cart" if they are so minded.

Ike Reported Canvassing List Of GOP Governors For Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today was reported to have come up at that time with the list of Western Republican governors along with other possibilities for the GOP national chairmanship.

Eisenhower told a White House news conference yesterday he thinks the committee, meeting here April 10, will choose a man who commands the highest respect of the country as a successor to C. Wesley Roberts.

The President said it wasn't his prerogative to pick a chairman but conceded his views will be influential. He indicated he had not made up his mind on a candidate.

Roberts resigned after a Kansas legislative committee held he had violated the spirit of the state's anti-lobbying law in collection of an $11,000 fee in the sale of a hospital to the state, before he became GOP chairman.

Eisenhower emphasized the stature of the man he wants as Roberts' successor by indicating he may be difficult to find. The President said he doesn't think anybody really wants the job of chairman. Some other Republicans weren't so sure about that.

Eisenhower and Sen. Taft of Ohio, the Republican leader, discussed the chairmanship at a White House conference, apparently with no concrete results.

Van Fleet Gets Job Offer As Staff Advisor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Deep in controversy over his claims at ammunition shortages in Korea, Gen. James A. Van Fleet today had offer of a job that could give him potential influence on national defense.

It was an invitation to serve as staff military adviser to the Senate Appropriations Committee, which will have a big say about how many billions of dollars Congress will vote for defense in the months ahead.

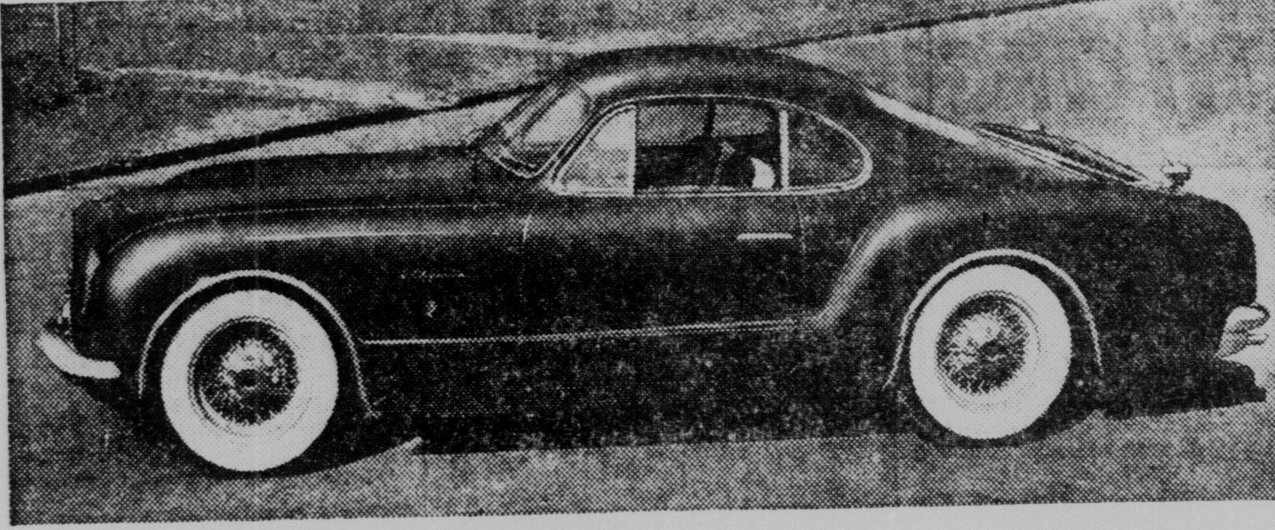

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the purse string committee said he and Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.), chairman of the defense funds subcommittee, yesterday invited Van Fleet to take the military adviser post.

"The general told us that he would take it under consideration," Ferguson said, adding it may be several days before Van Fleet decides.

A reporter tried to reach Van Fleet at the home of former Ambassador William C. Bullitt, where he and Mrs. Van Fleet are guests. He was told Van Fleet was "too tired to come to the phone."

The former Eighth Army commander retired Tuesday after nearly 38 years of Army service. He is 61.

Success Story

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Two young veterans here in less than seven years have parlayed $5,000 and a dream into a multi-million dollar business empire built on fire extinguishers, haircuts and household chemicals.

Everything Lewis Wessel and Alvin Meyer touch seems to turn to gold—and they can't stop touching things.

"We try to stay out of new things now—we've got about all we can do," said Lewis. "But if it's exciting, we can't stay away from it."

Wessel, now 36, and Meyer, 35, played in the streets of New York together as boys and have been lifelong friends. Each had a small business and had to liquidate it when they went into service during the second world war.

Lewis, an Air Force lieutenant in Europe, and Al, as a combat artilleryman, dreamed of going back into business on their own when the firing ceased.

One evening in 1946, while they were playing bridge, Lew mentioned a new product he was interested in—a compact fire extinguisher, no larger than a flashlight, for use in homes or autos.

Al liked the idea, too. They formed a partnership with $5,000 they had saved. Lew, an exceptional card player, had saved some of his wartime winnings.

By recruiting a nationwide sales force, the two partners soon were selling the cheaply-priced fire extinguishers like grass seed in April.

"We got into the haircut business by accident," said Al. "An accountant with us told us that the hotel barbershop he went to was for sale, and he thought it would be a good buy.

"So we bought it, and took the accountant in as partner. The shop did so well we decided to try another."

They ended up by buying the largest barber shop chain in America—18 barbershops and eight beauty parlors in New York, Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

In 1951 the two partners commissioned a friend, who was visiting Europe, to look around for new products. He came back excited over an item he had found in Sweden, a fluid in which household silver could be dipped and freed almost instantly of tarnish.

"We snapped it up," said Al.

He and Lew have decided the best field for quick profits in America today lies in household chemicals—products to lighten a wife's chores. They are currently preparing to market a new wall cleaning paste and a liquid demerol which can be poured into a washing machine and protect woollens from moths for a year.

Bloody Nose Delays Marciano-Walcott Bout 5 Weeks

Ticket Sales Had Been Slow

Marciano's Nose Injured In Sparring

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (P)—Seldom has a nose bleed caused so much confusion as Rocky Marciano's.

It has forced a five-week postponement of the champion's heavy-weight title fight with Jersey Joe Walcott. The scrap, all geared up for April 10, has been delayed until May 15.

It will be at the same place, Chicago Stadium; have the same television sponsor, a razor blade company; be on the same night of the week, Friday; and undoubtedly have more $50 customers in the bag for the original sale of 12,000 seats at that price.

With a week of ticket sales remaining before the scheduled April 10 date, the sponsoring International Boxing Club said $191,205 was in the till with $123,250 in mail and season reservations still to be picked up.

This left $475,545 worth of tickets yet to be sold before an anticipated $750,000 gross could be realized. Another $250,000 or $300,000 from television and film rights would give the IBC its ballyhooed "million dollar gate" for this second meeting of the two fighters.

The IBC, admitting the sale of its $50 seats was slow, requested the Illinois Athletic Commission to postpone the bout yesterday because of Marciano's bloody nose.

Rocky, apparently, had been having nose trouble at his Holland, Mich., training camp ever since he was clouted on it Sunday by sparmate Tommy Harrison. It bled then and again during workouts Tuesday.

He wore protective gear in his workouts on Wednesday. That same day, a delegation of the Illinois commission examined Marciano and reported he was in fine shape.

Later that day a nose specialist from Holland was consulted and examined Rocky. It turned out the champion had two ruptured small blood vessels.

"If the fighter had gone into the ring in that condition," said commission member Lou Radzienda, "He wouldn't be worth two cents and a blow might even have ended his career."

It all brought a shudder to Al Weill, Rocky's manager, who recalled what happened once to one of his other fighters, Marty Servo. Servo was never able to defend the welterweight title he won from Freddie Cochrane because of a nose injury in a bout with Rocky Graziano.

"I've got another champion now and I can't afford to take a chance," said Weill. "He'll lay off training for two weeks."

Here's the way others felt about it:

Marciano—"Of course, I'm disappointed. It's too bad this happened. But the delay won't make any difference to me."

Charley Goldman, Marciano's trainer—"The delay won't bother Rocky as much as it will Walcott who probably is worrying about whether this is a put-up job."

Walcott—"We'll all pack up and resume training at Pleasantville (N. J.)." (Walcott was hustled to Chicago last Monday to help perk up ticket sales.)

Dan Florio, Walcott's trainer—"The delay won't hurt Joe. We'll taper off for a week then go back into strict training. The guy's in terrific shape right now, 198 pounds, just the way I want him."

"One thing for sure," said a ringbird, "the postponement will let both guys spend Easter with their families."

THE CHALLENGER PACKS FOR HOME — Jersey Joe Walcott (above), challenger in the championship bout with Rocky Marciano, packs his suitcase in Chicago April 2 after a nose injury to Champ Marciano resulted in a five-week postponement of bout from April 10 until May 15 at Chicago Stadium. Walcott, the former heavyweight champion, will leave for Atlantic City, N. J., and resume training at Pleasantville, N. J.

Giants Badly Disturbed Ball Club With Season 2 Weeks Off

By GAYLE TALBOT

DENVER (P)—It did not require Leo Durocher's non-appearance at a banquet here to convince those close to the situation that the New York Giants are a seriously disturbed baseball club a fortnight before the National League season opens.

Their pitchers have not been pitching, their hitters have not been hitting, and they are blue and angry at the series of high score beatings that have been administered to them by the red-hot Cleveland Indians in their exhibition junket across the West. The atmosphere is nearly as funereal as it was when Monte Irvin broke his ankle here a year ago today.

Tommy Bolt Leads $10,000 Azalea Open

WILMINGTON, N. C. (P)—Tommy Bolt, the year's No. 3 money winner of professional golf, and three comparative strangers to the payoff window hogged the spotlight going into today's second round of the $10,000 Azalea Open tournament.

Bolt, the Oklahoma-Texas pro who now registers out of Maplewood, N. J., after a couple of years on the tour with a Durham, N. C., driving range connection, came through on schedule with a six under par 66 in Thursday's opening round.

But the big news was the way three unheralded performers came through. Mike Souchak, who graduated from Duke University last spring after starring as a football end and a member of the Duke golf team, matched Bolt's 33-33 card.

He and Bolt were only one stroke ahead of two other surprise performers—Wally Ulrich of Austin, Minn., and Fred Wampler of Indianapolis, the 1950 national intercollegiate champion.

Locked at 68, two strokes off the top end, were Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, the No. 2 money winner of the year; Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, and John Ruedi, the greenskeeper at the host Cape Fear Country Club.

Erautt Gets 2nd Chance To Stay In Majors

GREENWOOD, S. C. (P)—Eddie Erautt, one of the hottest pitchers in the minor leagues last season, was due to get another chance today to show whether he can make it in the majors.

Erautt, who never was a winner with the Cincinnati Reds in previous tries, burned up the American Association with Kansas City last year. The Redlegs recalled him but he has done little thus far to warrant a starting position. Erautt has allowed 13 runs and 23 hits in 16 innings of hurling.

Manager Rogers Hornsby planned to start him today against the Washington Senators. The Senators clubbed out four home runs Thursday as they whipped the Reds, 8-5.

Merchants Begin Fourth Season

Team Elects Officers; Launches Fund Drive

P. K. Laughlin was elected president of the Salem Merchants Baseball Club recently at a meeting held at the Memorial Building.

Other officers elected are: Ralph Mancuso, vice president; James Primm, secretary, and Gale Dougherty, treasurer. Chester Brantingham is manager of the team and E. W. Burcaw and Ed Bloor, trustees.

Beginning their fourth year in Columbiana League activities, the club has launched a drive to acquire the necessary funds for equipment, team insurance, umpiring fees, entry fees and other necessities. The fund campaign is being conducted in coordination with Ward Zeller, supervisor of city recreational activities, and is approved by the Chamber of Commerce.

The team will open workouts at Centennial Park Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. if the weather permits Sunday, April 12, another meeting and practice session will be held at the park, and measurements will be taken for new uniforms.

A benefit game for the Swimming Pool fund will be played in Salem as soon as arrangements can be completed.

Anyone wishing to try out for the team may contact any of the officers or players or report for the workouts.

The league season will open May 10 when the Merchants play Ly-bon there.

Championship trophies, won by the team last year, will be on display soon in downtown merchants' windows.

Lopez Not Sure Tribe Is Ready

LUBBOCK, Tex. (P)—You don't find Manager Al Lopez whooping and clicking his heels about this amazing hot streak of his Cleveland Indians.

Instead, he says, "I really don't think we're ready yet. We're getting there, though."

Al concedes it's a lot more fun to win than lose—the Indians now have won eight straight—but he adds:

"What really does please me is the confidence our club has developed. The winning and the hitting does that. Now the boys really believe in themselves."

Anyhow, the Indians are starting to prove they don't always have to outpower a team to win. Thursday's 3-0 victory over the Giants at Wichita, Kan., was Cleveland's first shutout, and Bob Lemon looked great.

He pitched seven scoreless innings, allowing only four hits, and Lou Briesie finished up for him. For Lemon, that's now 12 zeros in a row.

Dale Mitchell got two of Cleveland's runs, scoring Al Rosen with a second inning triple and hitting a homer in the fifth. Bill Glynn, playing for the sore shouldered Luke Easter, hit a home run for Cleveland's other run.

Thorpe To Be Buried In Native Oklahoma

SHAWNEE, Okla. (P)—Jim Thorpe, the greatest athlete of them all, will be laid to rest in his native Oklahoma and a shrine is planned in his honor to rival the Will Rogers memorial in Claremore.

Shawnee civic leaders announced the Indian athlete's widow, Patricia, had consented to his burial here near the place of his birth. His body will be returned for additional rites Thursday following a funeral in Los Angeles Monday.

Tickets Still Available For Vagabond Tilt

Tickets are still available for the game tonight between the Vagabond Kings and Salem Hine Motor in the high school gym.

The Vagabonds will bring to Salem some of the nation's top cage stars including Bill Spivey, All-American from Kentucky, and Mike Magula, former Youngstown College standout who received national prominence with a record of 57 per cent accuracy from the field.

Opposing the Vagabonds will be a star-studded team of district cagers including Frank Lanney, Kirby Laughlin, and Ed Jordan, of Sebring, voted captain of the All-Ohio high school team last year.

Tickets for the game can be bought at the door. The tilt is sponsored by the Amvets and Hine Motor as a benefit for the swimming pool fund.

Preceding the main event will be a contest between the Republican Club and Democratic Club girls teams, set for 7 p.m.

Lakers Win Right For NBA Playoff

MINNEAPOLIS (P)—The same two teams that fought it out for the National Basketball Association championship last year—the Minneapolis Lakers and the New York Knickerbockers—go at it again starting here Saturday night.

In 1952, the Lakers, led by George Mikan, finally won over the Knicks in seven games, and this year they'll probably rule favorites again.

The Lakers had their troubles with the Fort Wayne Pistons and didn't take the title until the rubber contest of the five-game series Thursday night, 74-53. Before that, the Pistons threw a scare into Mikan and Co. by playing them on even terms.

But in the finale, the Lakers left no doubt as to their intentions and roared to a 23-8 advantage in the first 10 minutes. The Pistons never came closer than eight points after that.

McLane Favored In AAU Swim Meet

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (P)—Jimmy McLane, in the climactic stage of a great comeback, was a big favorite to score his second triumph in the national AAU swimming meet today in Yale's magnificent pool.

The 22-year-old McLane, a Yale senior from Akron, O., and one of swimming's most intriguing figures, captured the 1,500-meter race Thursday right to open the three-day meet with a smooth exhibition of determination. His long course time was 18:54.

Ford Konno, the Hawaiian from Ohio State and Olympic champion, wasn't here to defend the title, one Milwaukee 11, Brooklyn 3, Fort Worth (TL) 6, Chicago (A) 4

McLane goes after Konno's second crown today—the 220-yard free-style, and nearly everybody is cheering for him. It is among six events being contested, with the final six scheduled for Saturday.

Braves Tounce Dodgers, 11-3; Yankees Shut Out Athletics; Reds Fall To Washington, 8-5

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee's new major league fans can begin taking real hope that the Braves left their Brooklyn jinx in Boston.

The Braves of '52 didn't have a winning record against anybody except Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, but it was the Dodgers who really killed them. The Braves dropped their first 14 games against Brooklyn and finished the year losing 18 of 21. One game ended by a tie.

While the Braves still were in Boston early this spring the situation remained unchanged — two meetings with the Dodgers and two losses.

Then came the switch to Milwaukee. The immediate results were not strictly sensational but there was some improvement. Brooklyn won its first game against Milwaukee, 1-0. Then Milwaukee won one, 3-2. Tuesday the Dodgers needed 10 innings to squeeze out a 3-2 decision.

Yesterday the Wisconsin Indians went on the warpath like the Massachusetts Indians never did. They battered the Bums, 11-3, at New Orleans in Brooklyn's worst defeat of the spring.

Opening up on Joe Black and continuing their attack on Clem Labine and Ronnie Negray the Braves scored five runs in the first four innings and never let Brooklyn get started. The Brooklyn hurlers walked eight and the infield contributed a pair of costly errors.

The victory gave the Braves an overall spring record of 12 triumphs and 13 losses, and 8 and 6 since changing homes.

The Braves were the only club to score in double figures yesterday. There were two shutouts. Vic Raschi and Johnny Schmitz combined to give the New York Yankees a 6-0 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics at St. Petersburg, Fla., and Bob Lemon and Lou Brissie of Cleveland blanked the New York Giants at Wichita, Kan., 3-0.

The Yankees had some anxious moments when Raschi was hit just below the right knee by a line drive off the bat of Dave Philley but X-rays showed no serious damage and club officials said last night the veteran right-hander should be able to pitch in turn. Raschi's right knee bothered him through the 1951 season and he had a loose cartilage removed from it in the winter of 1951.

The Giants, who had lost eight straight mainly because of bad pitching, got some good pitching for a change with Larry Jansen striking out six and giving up six hits in six innings. But the Cleveland twirling was better and the Indians also came through with their daily quota of home runs, this time by Dale Mitchell and Bill Glynn.

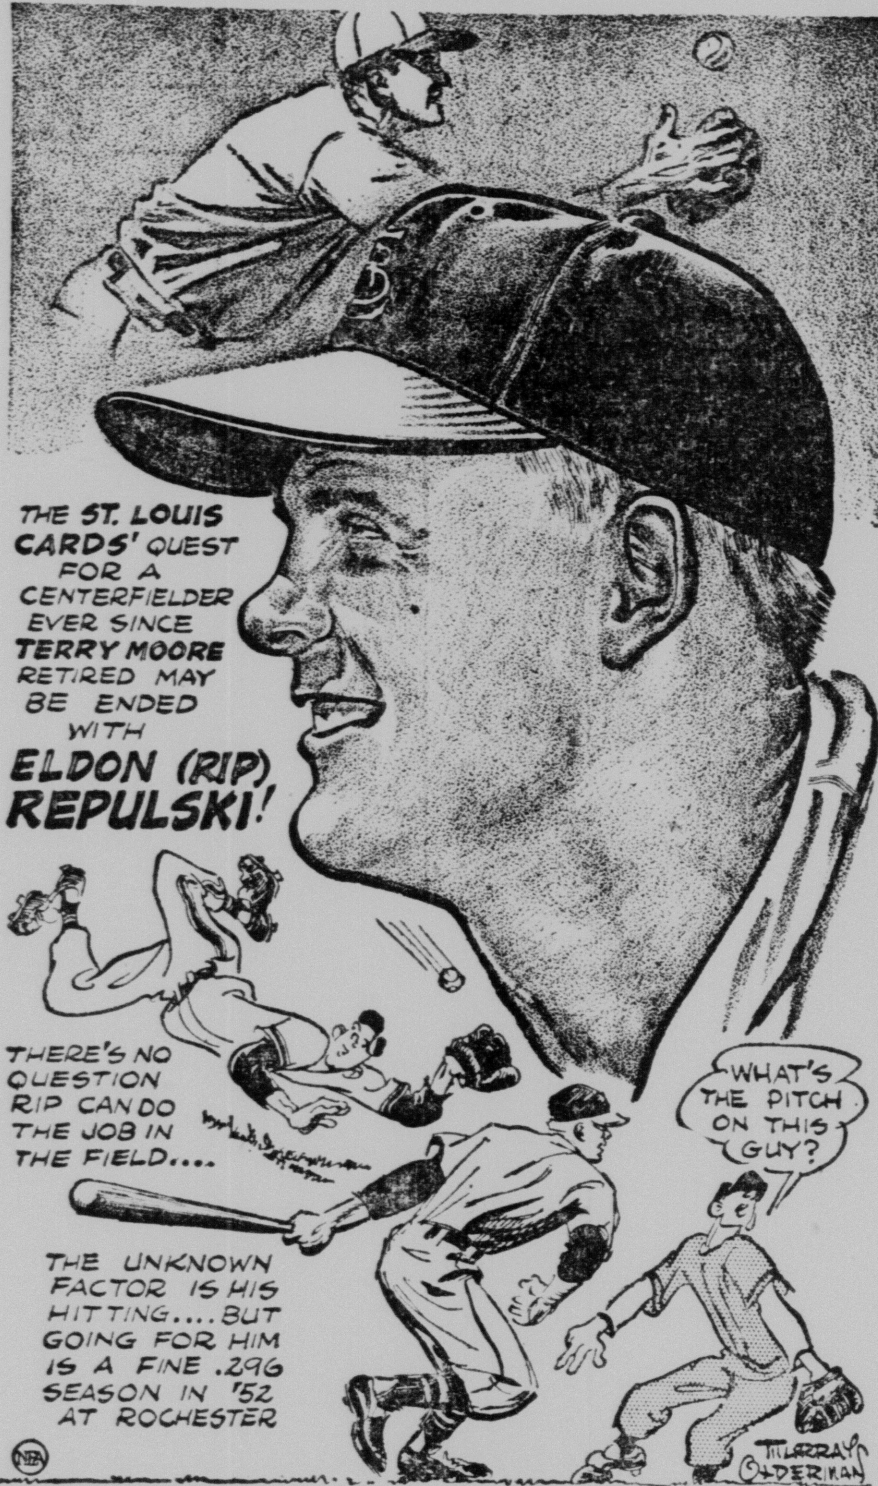

A three-run home run by light hitting Eddie Yost gave Washington an 8-5 verdict over Cincinnati at Savannah, Ga. Mickey Grasso, Jim Busby and Jackie Jensen also homered for the winners.

Jack Mayo cleared the fences with two out in the ninth to tie the score and then Granny Hamner drove one over the centerfield wall in the 10th to give the Philadelphia Phils a 9-8 victory over the Boston Red Sox at Weycross, Ga. Mayo's homer was his second of the game and Earl Torgeson of the Phils also hit two.

The St. Louis Browns took a 5-4 edge in their spring series with the Chicago Cubs by whipping the National Leaguers, 9-4, at Alpine, Tex. Herbert Kokernot, a Texas rancher, donated $1,900 in prizes for the games and the Browns picked up $1,330 of the jackpot with a 15-hit assault.

Detroit defeated the Cincinnati "B" team at Lakeland, Fla., 9-7, although the second string Reds hit four homers — two by Andy Seminick, and the St. Louis Cardinals won over Birmingham of the Southern Association, 6-3.

Ft. Worth of the Texas League tripped the Chicago White Sox, 6-4, in a 10-inning night game. Jim Baxes, sent back to the minors after training with the Dodgers this spring, broke up the game with his second home run of the evening. Tony Cucciarini also hit two for Ft. Worth.

Salem Track Team Continues Workouts For Opening Meet

The Salem High School track team is continuing to work out this week in preparation for its opening meet April 14.

Coaches Frank J. Tarr and Karl Zellars scheduled workouts on the first three days of this week. However, because of the inclement weather conditions, the squad was able to work outdoors only on Tuesday.

Since the team has been outside but once in two weeks, the coaches have been limiting the workouts to conditioning exercises.

A full round of calisthenics and hard running have marked the early practice sessions in the High School Gym.

For the rest of the week, the boys will work out individually, doing whatever running they can by themselves.

With the first meet less than two weeks away, the coaches are severely rushed for time. If weather permits, they hope to start intensive drills the first of next week.

So far, the boys have been unable to work on their particular events, but starting on Monday, Tarr plans to split the boys up into their assigned events.

One of the biggest schedules in Salem history has been arranged this year by Fred Cope, faculty manager. There are six dual meets carded, along with a triangular affair, plus the county and district team.

In addition, the Class "B" district meet also will be held at Reilly Stadium.

The squad promises to be fairly well-balanced this year. At this early stage, the Quakers seem to show particular strength in the distances, sprints, and pole vault.

With seven lettermen returning this year, prospects look bright to Coach Tarr.

Tarr said that this group of returnees should account for at least 90 points during the season.

Another promising sign is the large group of underclassmen on the squad. There will be only five or six seniors graduating this year, giving promise of even better things to come next season.

Massillon Boys Work Out In 8-Hour Day Of Grid Practice

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, O. (P)—This and that from Ohio's sports scene:

This is spring vacation week for many Ohio high school students—but up at Massillon the kids are working an eight-hour day—at football.

Which, along with the skills and techniques imparted by Coach Chuck Mather, may be one of the big reasons the terrific Tigers have chalked up five consecutive championships of the Buckeye realm.

Luther Emery, erudite sports editor of the Massillon Independent, outlined in an item this week how the gridders arrived at the stadium in the early hours, lunch boxes under their arms, and were there after the two-day sessions until 5:30 p. m.

The squad is ready to go at 9:30 a. m. and works until 11:30. Then comes the break for the locker room and lunch, with the athletic department furnishing milk, ice cream and other refreshments to supplement the home-packed boxes.

Practice resumes at 1:30 p. m. for four hours. Only some three hours are spent outside, the rest of the time being consumed with notebooks, blackboards and movies.

The Tigers worked out against Canton Lehman Tuesday afternoon, and were to meet Canton Timken this morning. Friday afternoon's workout was called off to allow the boys to attend church, and Saturday is a holiday for the kids as the coaches attend Wooster College's football clinic.

A couple of years ago, when Jim was hospitalized, Trautman started a "Let's send Jim a dollar" campaign which netted $3,600 for the great athlete. The dollars came from all over the world.

Paul Walker of Middletown's basketball champions, and Warren J. Scholler of Hamilton, two of the state's top-flight scholastic coaches, will constitute the faculty for Wittenberg College's coaching clinic July 30-Aug. 1. Ernie Godfrey launched the Wittenberg clinics back in the twirling 20's, and guest Knute Rockne, at one of them, tabbed Ernie as "the finest defensive coach in the country."

Mohawks Win Hockey Playoff In Riot

CINCINNATI (P)—The Cincinnati Mohawks are off and running in quest of the American Amateur Hockey Association playoff championship but the fact they beat Sault Ste. Marie Thursday night, 8-2, seemed like a minor detail.

The game must have set a record for penalties as Referee Hal Jackson called 62 of them in the 60 minutes of playing time and there was a rear riot with less than five minutes remaining.

The game was the first of a best of seven series between the Mohawks and the Indians of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association. The winner will meet the Eastern League playoff champion for the American title.

Police and ushers had to be called into action in the final brawl to separate players and fans as customers surged into the aisles in an effort to continue what had been a six-man fight on the ice.

Black Hawks Rebound To Lead Cup Playoff

MONTREAL (P)—Down 2-0, the Chicago Black Hawks made a brilliant comeback and today held a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series against the Montreal Canadiens.

Further, the Black Hawks now are favored to win the set because the next game is on their home ice Saturday night. If the series goes seven games, the two teams journey back here on April 7.

The Hawks scored three goals in the first period Thursday night to whip the Canadiens, 4-2, and go ahead in the series.

ABC Bowling Events

CHICAGO (P)—Only 76 individuals from Wisconsin, Illinois and West Virginia and 80 booster division teams are scheduled to roll in the American Bowling Congress tournament today.

Two doubles-singles squads were carded for the morning. The teams compete tonight after a tourney for Chicago press, TV and radio celebrities, which is a special event of the ABC.

Only one change occurred in the top 10 Thursday. The Chicago Pin-setters of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., which for 50 years have installed the ABC alleys, gained eighth place in the team booster division with 2,767. This is 85 pins off the lead, held by Chicago's Frank's Jewelry with 2,852.

Announce Draft Choice

CLEVELAND (P)—The Cleveland Browns today announced the signing of their sixth draft choice.

Don Siebrunner, an offensive end and linebacker for Washington State last year. He weighs 225 pounds and stands 6-3.

Broadway Stars Entertain Korean Vets On Troopship

NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway stars turned a troopship into a night club last night to welcome home the first 1,923 Korea veterans to reach an East Coast port.

The Navy troopship, the Gen. William Weigel, also carried 315 veterans of other Far East service.

The entertainment continued almost continuously from 8:45 p. m. to 2:30 a. m. as the Navy ship lay at anchor in the lower harbor within sight of the Statue of Liberty.

The transport will dock in Brooklyn today, and the city's biggest troop welcome since World War II will continue.

County School Supt. James L. McBride today announced the program for the school lunch program conference to be held Wednesday, April 15, at United Local School near New Garden.

The meeting is for all school cooks, adult cafeteria workers, administrators, board members, home economics teachers and community representatives.

Invitations have been sent to the following schools to send similar personnel: Columbiana, Leetonia, Lisbon, Carrollton, Dellroy, Harlem Springs and Augusta.

The meeting will open at 2:30 with a discussion on the philosophy and objectives of the school lunch program by Wade Bash, state director of school lunch program.

A cooking demonstration by a representative of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. will be given at 3:30. A typical class A dinner will be prepared and served as the evening meal at 6.

A panel discussion will be held with Miss Wilma Schulte of Salem and the Natural Gas Co. of West Virginia serving as moderator.

Honking Signals Banned In Yugoslav Cities

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A strange silence is settling over Belgrade and other Yugoslav cities.

An old traffic law, enforced by on-the-spot police fines, required sound signals at all intersections. Drivers honked once to go ahead, twice for a right turn and three times for a left turn. For a U-turn it was honk-honk-honk and again honk-honk-honk.

A government decree now prohibits that hand signals only are required.

4 Dead, 48 Injured Month's Highway Toll

Four persons lost their lives and 48 were injured in the 55 traffic mishaps investigated in this area during March by Salem State Highway Patrolmen, Cpl. Edward W. Mallery, officer in charge of the local barracks, said today.

Speed, failure to yield the right of way and failure to obey traffic signs were the outstanding causes of the accidents, he said.

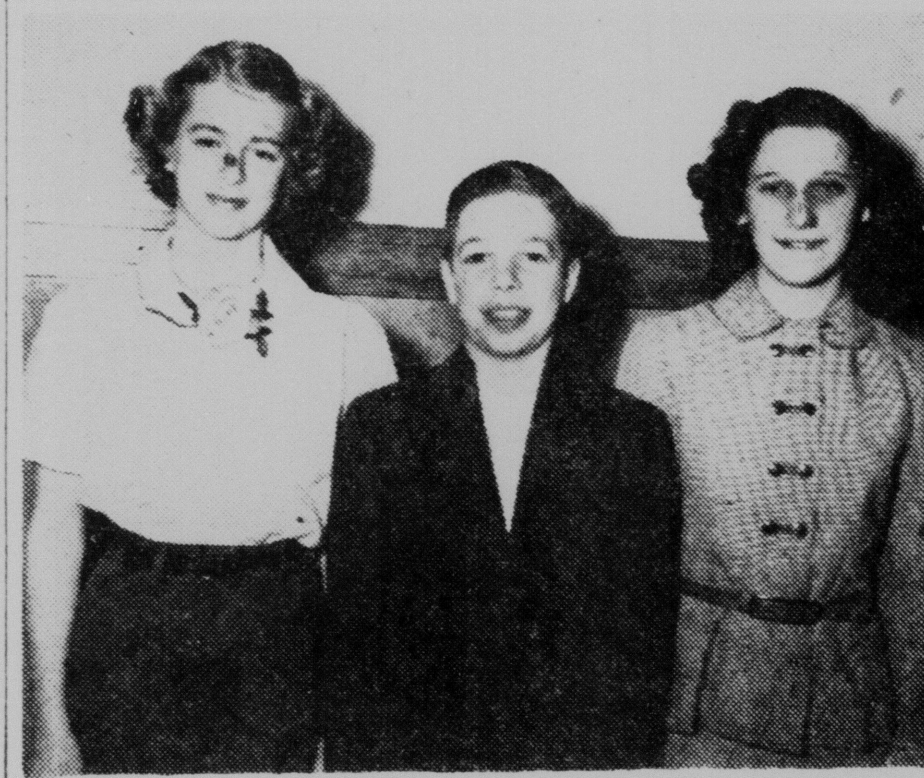

Route 14, northwest of Salem, proved the most dangerous highway for motorists, he reported, with most of the mishaps investigated occurring on that road.

Out of the complete total, 20 were one-car mishaps, causing injury to 15 persons.

Patrolmen made 250 arrests during the period. Forty-one were as the result of accidents.

AUTO PARTS STOLEN

Mrs. Paul Whitehead of 585 Granite Ave. told Salem police on Thursday that someone stole the push buttons off her car radio and the cigarette lighter sometime Wednesday afternoon while her car was parked in the Salem China Co. lot.

THESE THREE SPELLERS, champions at St. Patrick's school in Leetonia, will enter the Columbiana County parochial spelling finals at East Liverpool April 11. Left to right, are Rosalie Kalafas, 13; her brother, John, 12, and Anita Szkola, 13, who won the spello-down at Leetonia St. Patrick's school. The winner of the parochial event at East Liverpool will advance to the district finals at Steubenville May 1, which is sponsored annually by The Salem News, the East Liverpool Review and the Steubenville Herald-Star.

Knox, Fairfield Spellers For County Bee April 13 Are Chosen

Twelve more county students were selected to compete in the Columbiana County spelling bee finals at a district contest Thursday at Knox Local and Fairfield Centralized Schools.

United Local, and Sandra Bortor, a sixth grader at Knox, were the champion spellers at the Knox elimination contest, while Jo Ann Cope, an eighth grader, and Ethyl Marshall, a sixth grader, won the Fairfield bee.

Other winners at Knox in the seventh and eighth grade group were Kathryn Fabola, of Summitville, second; Judith Brown of West Local, third; and Neva Geary of United, alternate. All are eighth graders.

Other fifth and sixth grade winners were Sandra Seever, sixth grader at United, second; John Magzanti, fifth grader at United, third, and David Swindell, fifth grader at Knox, alternate.

In the seventh and eighth grade group at Fairfield other winners were Joyce Blosser, seventh grader at New Waterford, second; Patty Dyke, eighth grader at Negley, third, and Patty Converse, eighth grader at Fairfield, alternate.

Fifth and sixth grade winners were Laverne Kesler, sixth grade, Fairfield; John Sinsley, sixth grade at Unity, third, and Nancy Kay, fifth grade at Unity, alternate.

These winners will join the six selected Wednesday at Highlandtown for the County finals April 13 at New Waterford School. The final six spellers who will compete in the county bee will be selected Tuesday at West Point School.

Two winners in the older group will be chosen to represent the county at the area bee at Steubenville May 1. Younger students will vie for the county junior title.

The annual event is sponsored by the Salem News and the East Liverpool Review.

Couple Repainting Red-Smeared House

CLEVELAND — A Negro couple began repainting today to cover red paint race-prejudiced vandals spattered on the house they bought recently with money saved for five years. Police are seeking the vandals.

The $12,500 house on E. 88th St. near Euclid Ave. had been newly painted outside when purchased. In addition to the spattering, the night-time vandal, using a four-inch brush, had lettered on the white clapboard:

"Warning no niggers wanted."

Cleveland Hill, an employee of General Electric Co., and his wife, Evelyn, have been working repainting and cleaning the inside of the house and are looking forward to moving and a reunion with three of their four youngsters. The three have been with the maternal grandmother in Columbus, Miss. Because the Hills' previous rented quarters were too small to accommodate them.

Peace Moves

difficult to say that any current speculation should be dignified by the term analysis since some of it is very definite guessing.

But, he said, he thought in this whole business of peace approaches the U. S. should take at face value every offer made until it is proved not worthy of being so taken.

He added that he did not believe, of course, that this government should ignore the history of past dealings with all its exasperating experiences and frustrations in the effort to promote peaceful arrangements.

If the Communists go through with the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners, and if that in turn promotes armistice negotiations as they suggested, the President remarked, that certainly would be a clear indication that deeds rather than words were now to come into fashion. It would be a development which the U. S. government would welcome heartily, he said, without trying to speculate about what is behind it.

Shortly before he went into the news conference, the President had conferred with Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, who is leaving from New York today to take up his duties as U. S. envoy to Moscow. In response to a question about whether he discussed with Bohlen a Malenkov meeting, Eisenhower said that subject was not discussed because so far as he could see there was no basis for discussing it—at the moment.

He said that in conformity with regular practice, Bohlen came to call on him just before leaving for Europe.
